

Aboyne Golf Club appoints Director of Golf

The Council of Aboyne Golf Club are delighted to announce the appointment of Fraser Dunlop to the newly created post of Director of Golf. Fraser joins from The Gleneagles Hotel where, for the past nine years, his career has progressed through various key appointments across the resort's golfing operations.

He is currently the PGA National Golf Academy Manager. Amongst his many noteworthy credentials, Fraser played a key role in the organisation and hosting of the Ryder Cup at Gleneagles in 2014. Fraser is no stranger to the Aberdeen golfing community being heavily involved in the running of the prestigious Aberdeen Oilman's Golfing Association visit to the resort.

Commenting on his appointment Fraser said, "I have been impressed with the vision and strategic intent of the Council at Aboyne and the exceptionally professional way they have conducted this recruitment campaign. It is great to see such a forward-thinking and progressive club in these testing times for the sport."

"Aboyne has a first rate, varied and challenging golf course maintained in pristine condition. It is a club with a substantial track record of success growing the game at both junior and novice level and I look forward to playing my part in increasing the club's presence on the national stage."

President of Aboyne Golf Club Scott Mackie said "Fraser is a very experienced and talented individual who brings many first-rate qualities to the role. We are absolutely thrilled he has chosen to join us and will add substantial value to our service offering to members and guests."

Fraser will commence his role at Aboyne on 1st December 2017.
