

The Course

These historic links are ranked among the best in the UK and, as those who have visited us before will know; our golf course is always in superb condition and a real pleasure to play.

Measuring 5665 yards and with a par of 74 from the red tees, the course at Southport & Ainsdale was originally designed by the legendary James Braid and provides an enjoyable challenge to ladies of all levels.

Southport is widely recognised as England's best golfing region, and the frequently changing coastal elements mean that no two days are the same on the links, and good course management and strategy are often the keys to scoring well.

"I am really pleased that I joined S&A. The ladies have been very welcoming and I already feel part of the Club. The evening events I have attended have been excellent - lovely food, good value and great fun with all members helping me fit in. Also, as a business lady, competitions on Thursday and Sunday means I can play throughout the winter and after work during the summer."

Social Events

It certainly isn't just about what goes on on the course at S&A - the social side is equally important. We host a variety of events throughout the year, including Dinner Dances, Ladies Dinners, Wine and Cheese Tasting Evenings and Themed Golfing Nights to name a few.
