NEWSLETTER

On Friday 7th December, Royal Aberdeen Golf Club proudly welcomed Nick Edmund who is currently undertaking an epic marathon of walking 400miles with his clubs on his back, only to stop off and play the 4th hole at 24 of the top courses in the country. Nick at 57 years of age and currently in remission for neck & head cancer is going about his challenge raising awareness for his Global Golf4 Cancer campaign. While at Royal Aberdeen Golf Club, Nick met with the General Manager explaining the importance of the 4th hole as it relates to the 4 stages of Cancer.

Should you wish to find out further information about Nick's epic challenge, please see the link below;

Rules of Golf

I'm sure we are all aware that the new Rules of golf come into effect as of the 1st January. At Royal Aberdeen Golf Club we intend to embrace the new rules and encourage our membership to read up on these changes. Both David Ross; Head Professional and Keith Grant; General Manager attended a Scottish Golf rules night held at Newmachar Golf Club the other week, following on from this meeting we will arrange for a rules night in January 2019, date TBC. In the meantime, I attach a link to a presentation from Scottish Golf.
