Myaware supports people affected by myasthenia, a rare, muscle weakness illness which makes day to day activities like walking, talking and even smiling very difficult, and when the swallowing and breathing muscles are affected this can lead to a medical emergency. This is a life long condition for which there is no cure. Our aim is to make life easier for sufferers by providing information, advice and support. We also work to educate and raise awareness of the condition and we fund research into improved medications and finding a cure
