GOLF AT SOUTH BEDS GC

The Venue for Golf at any time of year!

In 1891, two local businessmen decided that golf could be a worthwhile sport and started considering the possibility of playing golf in Luton. After much investigation, Warden Hills proved to be the most suitable suit and thus began the beginnings of a golf course.

The club came into existence in 1892 and South Beds GC was established as the oldest club in Bedfordshire with its own course. The club's first president was Lord Battersea who was also the South Beds constituency member for parliament and the course has been played numerous times by the great Harry Vardon in the 1920's.

Over the years the course has continually developed including the last major work in 1978 resulting in our two courses – The Galley Course and Warden Course – named after the two hills that lie on the east side of the golf course.

The whole area of our golfing estate lies on a belt of chalk downland which provides wonderful natural drainage qualities. With a course that's rarely closed, this provides the perfect location for society golf in both summer and winter.

The Galley is our 18 Hole course which provides a fine golfing test with panoramic views across the local landscape. At over 6400 yards, this Par 71 course won't disappoint.

The Warden is a 9 hole course which contains a number of the original holes from South Beds Golf Club. Although the holes are shorter than the Galley, it's a tough test especially when the wind is blowing providing a challenge for experienced golfers.

We warmly welcome both Society and Corporate golfers, and aim to make your day a success by combining an excellent golfing experience with first class hospitality, good food, and a team committed to looking after your every need.
