

Delegates Meeting 14th March 2022

Competitions Report

Entries for our competitions are now online through Golf Genius, which seems to be going quite smoothly for most people and we have good entry numbers in many of our competitions. It is important that your members have registered themselves before they try to enter the competitions. Where we have too many entries to competitions and we will hold a ballot for tee times and let entrants know as soon as possible after the closing date

It is only the entries to the County Foursomes District Finals that will still need to be sent to the competition team but hopefully just for this year. The entry information and form have been updated very recently on the website, so please make sure your club is using the correct version. The terms of entry have slightly altered this year too. The number of entries that your club can enter does depend on the number of lady members that the club paid for the previous year, so not necessarily the number of lady members you have now but we will check everything.

We have a new competition this year, which is not on the YLCGA poster called The Harvest. It is a 4 BBBall for members with a handicap index 20.0 – 40.0 and this year is being held at Selby Golf Club on 5th October. Competitors will be split into 2 equal divisions for prizes when we see how many entries we have.

I would ask all delegates to make sure their club members know about all the competitions we organise and run but in particular this new one please.
